

The Three Englishmen (Ben Cottam, Nick Hall, Jack Hartnell and Tom Hensby) are a sketch & musical comedy group based in London. Their trademark high-energy and heartwarming comedy has seen them sell out Edinburgh 2 years in a row, and won over audiences of all ages in all venues from bars and backrooms to the O2 Islington Academy and Clarence House. Their performances at private and charity gigs have won them the following plaudits:

“The Three Englishmen were the perfect act for our crowd – a large group of Dutch TV execs from RTL on a business trip to London. The boys won them over with a hilarious high-energy set that had them laughing out loud from the very start. The guys injected energy, commitment and professionalism into the evening, leaving our clients thoroughly entertained.”

Katie Mavroleon, (Live Booker & Producer, Tantrum Films Ltd)

The Englishmen can perform a set of 10~70 minutes length of ‘greatest hits’ material, adaptable to any space or audience. Some of it has featured on BBC2 & BBC3, some in the finals of the Musical Comedy Awards - however all of it comes highly polished from hundreds of successful performances.

“Perfect. Thanks again for a sterling performance.”

Richard Lightman, Vice-Chairman, Music Producer’s Guild [on the Englishmen’s performance at the 2011 Music Producer’s Guild Christmas Party]

After a successful run of gigs at private, corporate or charity functions in 2011, the Englishmen have started taking bookings for 2012. For more information see the website at www.thethreeenglishmen.co.uk, or contact us directly via phone or email:
